2 Some Notes From Articles

According to The Elements of Typographic Style by Robert Bringhurst:

“anything from 45 to 75 characters is widely regarded as a satisfactory length of line for a single-column page set in a serified text face in a text size.”

To ensure that your text blocks are not narrower than 45 characters or wider than 75 characters, use `clamp()` and the `ch` (0-width character advance) unit:

```
1 p {
2   width: clamp(45ch, 50%, 75ch);
3 }

`min()` function can set a “max” value and `max()` sets a “min” value
